

An Urgent Christmas Appeal

The Sunday School of Soorp Asdvadzadzin in Vardenis, Armenia, under the pastorate of Fr. Taron Hunanyan, serves an especially impoverished region, bringing spiritual nourishment, education, and loving care to its children five days a week. Fr. Taron personally underwrites transportation costs. The center, with an enrollment of 130 children and teens, is without heat; they are already meeting in full winter gear (coats, hats, scarves) against the cold. The school will soon be forced to close its doors in the coming winter months. The Fund for Armenian Relief (FAR) has sent us, along with other Sunday schools across our Diocese, an urgent call for help. For $6,800, permanent heating equipment can be installed. Please help us make that happen by giving generously.

Checks, payable to Holy Trinity Church School, can be given to Merle Santerian or Nancy Basmajian (please write "Vardenis" on memo line)
